Overview

Chief Minister Rekha Gupta announced the new Delhi EV Policy on Saturday, set to roll out from the next financial year. Focused on subsidies, scrappage incentives, and neighborhood charging, this initiative aims to make Delhi India's EV capital while slashing air. In July 2025, officials confirmed the extension until March 31, 2026, reaffirming Delhi's commitment to electrification and even setting long-term stretch goals of 100% EV adoption (over a few years) in select vehicle segments. This blog examines Delhi's EV Policy across three key dimensions: Delhi. In a first-of-its-kind move, the policy proposes an incentive of ₹50,000 for retrofitting petrol or diesel cars into electric vehicles, limited to the first 1,000 cars. New Delhi: Delhi govt is preparing to roll out an ambitious Electric Vehicle (EV) Policy 2.
