

Why photovoltaic panels are a scam

Overview

Solar panel fraud occurs when unscrupulous companies or individuals deceive homeowners through misleading sales practices, hidden fees, and false promises about solar energy systems. Demand for solar-powered home systems has increased rapidly in the last several years. Scams, schemes and straight-up fraud abound in the dark underbelly of an otherwise light-filled industry. As more families consider solar energy improvements, dishonest companies exploit the fine print in solar panel. Did a salesperson knock on your door and promise free rooftop solar panels at no cost to you?

Or say you'll never have to pay another electricity bill because government programs, grants, or rebates cover your solar installation?

It's likely a scam. While there are some government-funded solar. In the worst cases, homeowners have been left making payments on overpriced systems that don't work, with little to no support from the installation company that put the panels on their roof. To avoid getting scammed, you need to know what to look out for and when to walk away.
